This competition will feature three categories: stepping, strolling, and saluting.

- Stepping is a tradition used as a way of communication between individuals. It is a series of synchronized slaps, stomps, and claps that form a rhythmic sound. Stepping is very common among Multicultural Greeks, but especially popular among "The Divine Nine" also known as, the National Panhellenic Council (NPHC.)
- Strolling or 'party walking' is a tradition used to demonstrate in one's respective organization. It consists of choreographed movements, dance steps, and sign throwing that organizations perform in a straight line while progressing throughout the dance floor.
